This property offers any potential buyer the chance to acquire their own little part of Andalucia! On offer is a charming, large, old country house set within several adjoining plots of land located in the countryside between the Andalusian pueblos of Alora and Cartama. The house has a build size of 333 m2 with accommodation distributed over two levels. It has not been lived in for several years and is currently in an abandoned state requiring extensive rebuilding, although it does still retain some lovely traditional features such as thick stone walls, a bread oven and a charming patio to the rear of the property. The land extends to approx. 150.000 m2 and is planted with olives, almonds, figs and ancient oak trees. As this property enjoys three private wells, there should be plenty of water for cultivating the land. The access to the property is by several kms of country track and thus the location offers extreme privacy. A great opportunity for anyone wishing to embark on an Andalusian adventure.
