It has a large plot, maintained to blend into the surrounding environment, with wonderful mountain views. There is a feeling of calm and serenity to this property. The finca is secured and accessed via large gates. The layout is simple, yet has character and charm with a quirky, "arty style". The setting, design and location are sure to invoke creativity for those artistically inclined. The entrance is lined with algarroba trees (carob). These provide wonderful shade for the seating area beneath them. An abundance of Mediterranean plants lead to the spacious covered terrace. This is a fabulous, outdoor living space, perfect for the long, hot summer days. This leads directly to an open plan living room and kitchen with a feature, free standing wood burner. There are two bedrooms and two bathrooms. The master bedroom has high ceilings and sliding patio doors to another, private, covered terrace. The outside living is kept natural and rustic, flowing perfectly on to the surrounding trees and flora of this stunning countryside. With easy maintenance in mind, there are open terraces, pergolas and mature trees to give shade in the summer. There are several, traditional, Spanish villages nearby. Bolulla is a 5 minute drive and a 30 minute walk, La Nucia 25 mins, Pollop 25 mins and the village of Tarbena is approx 10 minutes by car. Tarbena is "the starting point for the most beautiful walks in the Costa Blanca". Situated high in the mountains and surrounded by almond groves, there are stunning views as far as Altea and Benidorm. These views are blanketed in almond blossoms in early Spring which is a sight for sore eyes! Although the town itself is small, Tarbena has everything including several bars and restaurants. There are several natural water fountains where you can collect fresh and pure drinking water and the town has its own municipal pool which becomes a social hub in the summer months.
